

JOHNSTON and COMPANY
STRATEGIC CONNECTIONS FOR GROWTH

University Muslim Medical Association announces a new position for DIRECTOR OF PROGRAMS

Organization Description

Starting in 1996, UMMA has been redefining healthcare for the people of South Los Angeles, by applying the ethical, financial, and social teachings of Islam to the problems of caring for the underserved. UMMA provides comprehensive family care and serves as the regular family doctor to over 15,000 adults and children. For them, the UMMA Community Clinic is their only source of healthcare and without the clinic many diseases would go undiagnosed or untreated. Their standards of clinical excellence and stringent operations have earned the clinic Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) status and recognition from the Better Business Bureau's Wise Giving Alliance.

UMMA is also dedicated to medical students and serves as a teaching site for UCLA. UMMA has a multi-disciplinary staff of approximately 24 case managers, health educators, outreach workers, administrators and client services professionals Governed by a 13 member Board of Directors, UMMA has an approximately $3 million operating budget comprised of a mix of fee for service, State and County grants, and foundation support.

Additional information can be found on UMMA's website: www.ummaclinic.org

Position Description

Reporting to the CEO, the Director of Programs will be responsible for providing leadership necessary to research, develop, integrate and evaluate current and future programs that are aligned with the mission of the organization and support the overall strategic goals of the organization. He/She will also collaborate with the CEO on strategic initiatives and take an active role in industry and community based public policy initiatives. The Director's responsibilities include program management of prevention programs (women's health, health education and promotion, mental health, school based health centers), strategic initiatives and program audits and compliance.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have experience with, and knowledge of, multi-ethnic and underserved communities, program development and administration experience and a strong public health background. A Master's degree is preferred and at least five years experience working for a social services or health organization.

Compensation

The compensation for the position is within an established range, $85,000 - $95,000, depending upon qualifications and experience. There is a well-defined benefit package that includes health, dental and vision plans, life insurance and a 401K (no match).

Direct inquiries and résumés to Johnston and Company, Attn: UMMA Programs, 6167 Bristol Parkway, Suite 140, Culver City, CA 90230. Electronic résumés and cover letters preferred. E-mail to

JandC@johnstonco.org

6167 Bristol Parkway, Suite 140 ♦ Culver City, CA 90230 ♦ Phone: 310/410-3905 ♦ Fax: 310/410-3906
E-mail: JandC@johnstonco.org